To the Public.

Having understood that certain persons who are desirous of obtaining the appointment of Harbor Master, which I now hold, have circulated a report that I have resigned that office, and have by means of this story, prevailed upon several respectable citizens to recommend them as proper persons to fill the pretended vacancy—I beg leave respectfully to inform my fellow citizens, that I never did resign the said office which is all important to me in my old age, nor have I any idea of doing so. It is true that I have been afflicted with an illness which has prevented me from giving that PERSONAL attention to the duties of the office which I wished: but, thank God, I am fast recovering, and hope soon to be able to attend to business as usual.

In the mean time, I humbly trust, that my fellow citizens will not be imposed upon, to give their aid in promoting the views of my enemies, and thus to deprive me of the chief support of my old age.

November 16

From the Liverpool General Advertiser September 25.

The following letter from the British Consul at New York, has been received by the association of underwriters of this place, and is made public by order of the committee.

His Britannic Majesty's consulate office.

New-York, July, 1816.

Gentlemen—Since I took upon me the duties of the British consulate office in this city, to which his royal highness the Prince Regent has graciously been pleased to appoint me, I have found that the bringing of papers for my signature, has been deemed a mere matter of form, without supposing that I had any thing to do with the fairness of the transaction, or with the truth of what I was called upon to sanction, by my seal of office, as it was alleged, I merely had to certify that the persons, whether notaries-public, custom-house officers, or others, were the public characters set forth—was this all I should do, I should not fulfil one of the most important duties of my office, namely, to guard the unrepresented British subject from fraud at this port. I have deemed it my duty to require that all parties making claims for damage, should previously to my granting my signature, adduce proof before me of the truth and fairness of such claim, and of the actual state of the damage, and that the damaged goods alone were sold. As I have it represented to me, that for a partial damage cases and bales have been sold as damaged, a survey of which is had by the consignee and broker, or auctioneer, solicited by the same consignee to dispose of goods represented as damaged, and the damage alone exhibited to view. I beg leave to state that my requiring this proof occasions no increased fee for my seal, but I deem it my duty as long as I shall have the honor to hold the office of British consul, never to affix my seal to an act, I do not examine into the allegation, when the interests of persons absent may be affected. Were the protests also taken before the consul, as it is also part of the official duty of consuls in foreign ports, I am aware proper enquiries also in such cases would tend much to check the extensive frauds that are represented to me as daily practised, but this rests with you, gentlemen, & should you please to favor me with any instructions, how I may best guard the interests of those unrepresented here, I shall pay all attention to your communications.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient, humble servant,

JAMES BUCHANAN.

To the gentlemen underwriters, at Liverpool.

LANCASTER SUMMER ASSIZES.

Before Sir John Bailey, Knt. and a Special Jury.]

M'Evers vs. Schneider.

Mr. Serjeant Hullock opened this case by stating that it was an action brought by the plaintiff, a merchant in America, against the defendant as the surviving partner of a person of the name of Sandall, who were the charterers of the ship called the Neva, from Liverpool bound to New Orleans, in the United States of America; upon her arrival at which place she was put up as a general ship. The only cargo which could be procured was 115 bales of cotton, and about 200 barrels of flour. The bales of cotton were shipped by the plaintiff at New Orleans, and upon her arrival at Liverpool they were found to be in such a damaged and deteriorated state that they were wholly unfit for the regular market. It appeared that they had been stowed upon ballast, called shingle ballast, which had been put on board the vessel on her outward bound voyage at Portsmouth harbor, the usual place for taking in ballast. Upon examining the cargo in the hold it was perceived that the bags were filled with ballast and the whole of the bottom became saturated with the sea water.—The bottom was obliged to be sold to persons who make it their business to purchase that article in a damaged state at a very inferior price.—It was contended by the learned serjeant that the injury the plaintiff had sustained was attributable to the improper stowage of the cargo, for which the defendant was liable, and that he therefore ought to pay the plaintiff the difference between what the cotton would have sold for, if it had been bro't home in a perfect state, & what it actually did produce.

Several witnesses peculiarly the surveyors of cargoes for the Liverpool underwriters, were examined on the part of the plaintiff: they were all of opinion that the cargo had been improperly stowed; that it was unusual to put cotton upon shingle ballast; but at all events, if it was so placed, it ought to have been sufficiently secured or dunaged; that for want of this necessary precaution, every sea the vessel made, had discomposed the ballast, and caused the mischief complained of. It was in evidence, that sand and gravel had got so cemented by the sea-water, they could not separate it so as to disengage the cotton, without using iron crows and pickaxes. The plaintiff's case having been so far made out in proof his counsel with great difficulty, consented to have the amount of the damages ascertained out of court.

Mr. Scarlet, for the defendant, said, he should have no difficulty in setling the damages, for he entertained the most sanguine expectation that the jury, instead of giving the plaintiff damages, would find a verdict for the defendant. He said this action was a speculative attempt on the part of the Underwriters, who resided in America, to shift the loss from themselves upon the owners of the ship. Underwriters of all countries were a description of persons always averse to paying losses, if they could by any means avoid doing so. He should shew that the ship had been stowed in the way every other ship was stowed for such a voyage and such a cargo. That her stowage had been superintended by certain persons called stevedores, who always performed that service themselves, never suffering the captain or any one else to interfere with them. It would appear that such a voyage as this vessel had, no kind of stowage could have kept the cargo dry or free from damage. About ten days after sailing from the Mississippi she encountered in the Gulph of Florida, a most furious tempest—heavy seas broke over her—she strained—her seams gaped part of her copper sheathing was torn off—and she sprung a leak under her bows between wind and water—the pumps became choaked and would not work, in this situation of peril the carpenter, at the risk of his life, was slung over the bows, to endeavour to repair the leak; one of the pumps was removed to the forepart of the ship; but in order to get to the water in the hold they were obliged to remove the ballast and throw it indiscriminately over the cotton, it was a question of life and death with the captain and crew, and in such case his Lordship would tell them the security of the cargo was a second consideration. Their efforts in stopping the leak were successful, but she met such a series of foul weather, that by the time she reached Liverpool, she had between three and four feet water in the hold. He therefore contended, that the injury the cargo had sustained was in consequence of the perils of the sea, and that consequently the underwriters, and not the owners, were bound to indemnify the plaintiff.

The captain and crew clearly sustained these facts, and so well satisfied were the jury that they would not give his Lordship the trouble of summing up. They instantly returned a verdict for the defendant. Mr. Justice Bailey said, he had never heard of such an action as this! it certainly was an attempt by the American underwriter to shift the liability from themselves upon the owners.

London was in acommotion on account of the refusal of the shop keepers to take plain shillings and sixpences, but a public notice being given that the oank of England would not refuse them, the agitation and alarm wholly ceased.

The Port of Portsmouth, was for the first time for 25 years, without a single ship of war in it, during one week of September.

The Jews.—One of the first subjects to be decided by the Diet at Frankfort, relates to the political rights of the Jews. That cruel policy which has been pursued with respect to the Jews, we trust, had been on the point of being abandoned for ever. To have been, for so many ages, without a country or a home.

To find no spot in all the world their own;

To be the only people that do not inhabit the birth place of their ancestors, this surely is a fate hard and bitter and severe enough.

A Paris article of Sept. 24 says—"The Memorial Religieux, announces that 20,000 Jews, of the district of Mantua, have addressed petitions to the Emperor of Austria, in favour of their brethren, who, they assert, are still persecuted in Piedmont, and in the states of Germany."

A Frankfort paper of 19th Sept. says—"The intelligence from Turkey continues to mention the Jew who gives out for a new Messiah, and whose object is to found a new kingdom of Judea. Some quidnuncs assert that it is a Frenchman who is concealed under this disguise."

The Mines of Peru.—These mines having recently failed in their usual supply of silver, in consequence of the miners being prevented, by the overflowing of the waters from the constant prosecution of their work, the Spanish government has, with the sanction of England, engaged an English Engineer to take to South America several steam Engines, in order to draw off the superfluous waters An arrangement has also been entered into between the two governments, for dies to be sent over, in order that the silver may be converted into dollars, and in this state be sent to England direct, agreeably to contract.

FROM ENGLAND.

The brig Sally-Ann capt. Smith, from Antwerp, touched at Cowes, and the master procured a file of the London Morning Chronicle down to the 6th of October, and the General Shipping List to the same date. The editors of the Gazette have been favored with these papers, and give the following summary of their contents.

The Paris Moniteur states that the operations of the Celleges of Arrondissement, which return a certain number of candidates to the electoral colleges of departments, out of which the latter are to elect the deputies to the chamber, are finished, and that the elections have been in general favorable to the constitutional interests.

Accounts from Cadiz announced that the new Spanish Queen and her suite were to depart from Cadiz on the 1st Oct. and that since their arrival in Brazil, all had been feasts and rejoicings and every night illuminations.

From Naples it is stated that three of the American vessels now in possession of the Neapolitan government will be delivered up, and this, it is hinted, will be the whole result of the American government.

The story of a Jew having collected a large army in the neighborhood of Hamburgh, is acknowledged to be a fabrication.

It was reported that the duke of Kent would be married to the Princess Amelia of Baden, sister to the Emperor of Russia.

Mr. Eagen, the English Consul in Sicily, put an end to his life by throwing himself out of a window.

There was a report on the stock exchange the 4th, that ministers were to get over their difficulties in finance, for the present, by an arrangement with the bank: the directors have agreed to advance them ten millions on exchequer bills. This produced a rise in the funds and the baker that made the last sale purchased his stock. There was also a report of the dissolution of Parliament.

All doubts and conjectures about the harvest (says the Morning Chronicle of the 5th) are now at an end. The fair prospect which, six weeks ago, we fondly entertained, is totally obscured—and we lament to say, that the wheat which has been reaped in all the chief corn districts, turns out to be so pasty and cold as to bear no sale in the market, because it can only be manufactured into flour when kiln-dried. The old wheat only is purchased, and the consequence is, that the average price is so greatly above eighty shillings, that in no clear the ports must open on the 15th Nov. next.

Letters from Naples state, that the Princess of Wales was dangerously ill of a bilious fever.

ALEXANDRIA.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 18.

The family of Wrongheads.—A little upwards of twenty five years since a pamphlet written by Thomas Paine, was published in England in which the author boldly asserted in substance, that within the next coming twenty years the British government would become bankrupt, and that a revolution would ensue; proving the point, to the full satisfaction of the numerous party to which he belonged by a series of arithmetical calculations.

That pamphlet, though it created a momentary alarm in England, did no durable mischief there. But in this country it was the source of incalculable mischief, which has lasted from that time even up to the present day

At that period, and for some years after, Thomas Paine was regarded by not a few of the great, as well as the little men of America, as a political oracle. There were some who seriously contended that he had done as much toward achieving the American independence as General George Washington himself; that the pen of the former had been as puisant to that effect, as the sword of the latter. They bitterly reproached President Washington as cold-hearted or envious, for that he neglected to demand Paine of the French goverment when it held him as a state prisoner; and some eight or nine years after, they loudly applauded the conduct of President Jefferson in providing a public ship to bring over that exalted Character from France to the greatful bosom of these United States.

Such being the profound and almost idolatrous veneration, in which Paine had been held in this country, especially at the time when he published the afore. mentioned pamphlet, the accomplishment of its joyous prediction of the speedy downfal of England was expected with no less confidence than pleasure.

This political faith was not merely theoretical, it has been practical, wofully practical. Upon it was founded the discriminating bill of Mr. Madison, who, in his speech on that subject, gave a striking description of the forlorn and tottering condition of old England. It was soon after the appearance of Paine's prediction, that Mr. Madison came forward with his bill; and from that period up to the time of Bonaparte's fall, the same infatuation continued to operate effects dreadfully disastrous to the interests of this country. To pass by many notorious instances, why did Mr. Jefferson reject Monroe and Pinkney's treaty? Because as he said, England would fail in six months, or a twelvemonth at most. Had he accepted that treaty, what an incalculable mass of mischief would have been prevented. Again, why did our government rush into war, without necessity, without preparation? Because it, was thought to be the nick of time for producing the great event so long and so earnestly expected. The speeches and writings of that fully justify this assertion.

Even now there remains in the minds of these men a ray of hope, which, every now and then, expands and sparkles. The stagnation of trade, the heaviness of debt and the cry of distress, in England, seem to excite in them much stronger emotions than do the like calamities at home.

Con. Courant.

Capt. Holmes, of the schr. Montezuma' from St: Thmas, informs, that the Buenos Ayrean Admiral Brown, who had put into Barbadoes, had, by information of his crew, been seized. Two millions and a half of property was found on board his vessel. The crew alleged that he had plundered indiscriminately whilst in the Pacific Ocean, and would not return to the River of Plate intending to apply all the booty to himself.

The number of Post Offices in the U, S, is about 2450. The mail is carried 46,380 miles in stages, and 61,171 in sulkeys and on horse back.

The Advocate of the People, a paper printed at Auberh by H. C. Southwick, gives the following:

Capital Piece of Surgery.—On Tuesday the 3d day of September last, a son of Mr. Joel Calkins, of this town, about seven years old, was in company with a man who was dragging logs together with a pair of oxen and who fastened his team with a chain three feet from the small ends of two beach poles, fourteen feet in length and five inches in diameter, each at the large ends: then driving quickly along with said poles, the boy walking in company with him, the small end of one of the poles catching into the ground, the large end thereof was raised with a quick motion perpendicularly over and obliquely forward, so that the very extremity of it struck said boy on the left and superior or upper side of his head and levelled him to the ground, from whence he was raised and supposed to be dead for some minutes, but by moving and shaking him, he was enabled to breathe again.

Medical aid was immediately procured, and his scull being laid extensively bare with the knife, the forehead, the temple and the upper and back parts of the left side of his head were found fractured and shattered to pieces in a very shocking manner, and a portion of his scull, 3 and half inches long and 2 and half wide, on the left side of his head, was bent in upon the brain from 1-8th to 1 3-4 of an inch deep, excepting at one end of two inches wide where it was connected to a solid portion of the scull; the fracture of the above depressed portion was half an inch larger in its whole extent on the inside of his scull than on the outside, it being scaled off under, and thereby making the inner edge of it very sharp and irritating.

In consultation the operation of trepanning was determined on as the only alternative, and performed on Wednesday following, 18 hours after the accident. & it became indispensably necessary to make four perforations, or holes, through the scull, with the Trepan, before the depressed portion of his scull could be raised out of the brain and fixed in its proper position, though repeated efforts were made after each of the three first perforations with different elevators, without effect. In the course of the examination of the differen fractures of his scull, sixteen broken and de ached or loose pieces of bones of considerable size, were found and removed, also a quantity of extravasted blood was discharged from beneath the scull.

The patient has been repeatedly and freely bled, blistered, and evacuated with physic; and is now eight weeks from the date of the accident, so far recovered as to be able to walk about the room, goes out of doors in fair weather without assistance, has a good appetite is perfectly rational, and we have no doubt in saying will perfectly recover.

The above surgical operations were performed, and case managed and treated, by Dr. Joseph Pitney, of this place by whose request we visited this patient on the day of the operation.

Augusta, Nov. 7.

ON Tuesday last a deputation of eight friendly Indians, from the Creeks or Muscoquees, led by Major M'Intosh, arrived here—they are on their way to the City of Washington, and on Wednesday continued their journey for that place—The deputation, we understand, is composed of the first Chiefs and Warriors of the Nation, who through the late war uniformly adhered to the American cause, and were valuable auxiliaries to the forces under Major General Jackson, in compelling the hostile Indians to sue for peace upon our own terms.—Their orderly, and general good conduct, and as it has been represented to us their correct deportment, will it is hoped secure them a friendly and hospitable reception in such parts of the country as they may pass through, in their route to the Seat of Government. They are conducted we understand, by major Daniel Hughes, the United States Factor at Fort Hawkins, & will go on by way of Salsbury, Halifax C House, etc being what is called the middle road from this place to Washington.

RICHMOND, Nov. 14.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

Yesterday, Mr. Hay from the Bank Committee, reported a bill, suspending the operation of the law, (compelling the banks to pay specie) till the 15th of December—The professed object of delay, was to indulge the bank, at the same time to give the members time to make enquiry, and to examine the subject more deliberately.

A debate of much interest ensued—Mr. Banks moved te strike out the 15th December, and insert the 1st of July—wishing to settle the question at once a-believing that to be the best period to be fixed for resuming specie payments.

This motion was opposed by Mr. Mercer, of (Loudoun) Giles, Marshall, Colson, Chamberlayne, and Blackburn—and advocated by Mr. Smith, (of Wythe.)

Much ingenuity was displayed on both sides—as well as considerable diversity of views—Mr. Mercer wished to give time for consideration, but was vehemently opposed to the 1st of July as the day—Mr. Giles was in favour of that day, but was anxious to give gentlemen an opportunity for enquiry—Mr. Marshall demanded the time, and declared if he were compelled to vote at once, he would declare against any suspension of the law.—Mr. Colson preferred the 20th of February—Mr Chamberlyne was opposed to any suspension, but upon certain conditions—General Blackburn demanded time for enquiry—but seemed indisposed to grant any suspension of the banks but for a short time

Mr. Smith declared himself in favour of the 1st, of July.

Finally, on Mr. Mercer's suggestion the motion was divided—and the question was first taken on striking out the 15th of December—which was lost.

The bill was then engrossed read the third time, passed and sent up to the Senate.

Mr Mercer, from the committee, reported a bill suspending the law of the 29th February, 1816, (with the exception of the 19th secton) as to the bank of Waterford and Martinsburg.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during th warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout asthmatic gout, palsy, lumbagoo, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellant minerals, (the basis of other lotions) and of unparralled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural, insensible perspiration, which is essential to health, yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Restorative Powder for the teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication or any other destructive intemperance the unskilful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in, &c.
